Radiometric dating, radioactive dating or radioisotope dating is a technique used to date materials such as rocks or carbon, in which trace radioactive impurities were selectively incorporated when they were formed. The method compares the abundance of a naturally occurring radioactive isotope within the material to the abundance of its decay products, which form at a known constant rate of decay.

TiO 2 is a wide-bandgap semiconductor with 3.0~3.2 eV of bandgap energy (E g) that requires the excitation light wavelength range shorter than ca. 400 nm (E g = hc/λ ≈ 1240/λ) ( ).The bandgap excitation creates electrons (e CB ↑) in conduction band (CB) and holes (h VB ↓) in valence band (VB) in femtosecond time scale (path 1 in Fig. 1), which are subsequently trapped in 100 ps (shallow ...
